

I'm Giulio, a 23-year-old Italian graphic designer with a curious mindset and a strong attention to detail, always looking for effective ways to communicate meaningful ideas.

During my studies at Politecnico di Milano, I explored different areas of design, constantly challenging myself and expanding my approach. I also spent a semester at Vilnius Academy of Arts, where I took part in an academic collaboration with the local basketball team BC Wolves, creating graphics for their social media communication.

I also played basketball for many years reaching professional levels, an experience that helped me develop discipline, teamwork, and a strong goal-oriented mindset.

I currently work at SBS SpA, mainly focusing on graphic, visual, and communication design for both digital and physical channels.
